Experience

MetabolismFun - Full-stack Web Engineering

- An online, educational game created to teach cellular metabolism at a university level.
- Worked with Dr. Neocles Leontis at BGSU to develop the game for his classes; I was responsible for programming, design, and deployment.
- Features a playable turn-based game forcing the player to learn metabolic pathways to maximize certain outputs, customizable settings, saved games, and a flat, smooth appearance.

Personal Robotics at CMU - Intern; Android Development

- Designed an Android application for in-house use on a humanoid robot that simplified normally difficult tasks such as adjusting motor position, displaying sensor output, or sending a direct command.

Agile Oasis Technologies - Intern; General Web Development

- Worked on a variety of projects, generally designing and building the frontend for contracted websites.

Game of Life - Independent Project

- A simulation of Conway's Game of Life, developed in Java to run on a desktop computer.
- A game as much as a tool, the program allows users to work on an infinite grid, place predefined patterns, and watch cells evolve over time.
